Rooms on the Second Floor are open for long-term researchers at the Library, including Cullman Center Fellows and scholars-in-residence enrolled in the Center for Research in the Humanities.

Reading rooms open to the public for research and quiet study:
- Rose Main Reading Room (315)
- Wallach Division (300)
- Salomon Room (316)

* Reading rooms open to researchers by appointment:
- Wallach Division (308)
- Pforzheimer Collection (319)
- Berg Collection (320)
- Brooke Russell Astor Reading Room (328)

Restrooms
Due to construction work, the women's room on the third floor is unavailable. Please instead use the women's room on the second floor, located below the third-floor men's room. The men's room on the third floor is available for use.

2 | Second Floor
The New York Public Library

Your Visit to the Stephen A. Schwarzman Building

1 | First Floor

The Polonsky Exhibition of The New York Public Library’s Treasures is now open in Gottesman Hall!
Reserve free timed tickets: nypl.org/treasures

Reading rooms open to the public for research and quiet study:
- Picture Collection (100)
- DeWitt Wallace Periodical Room (108)
- Dorot Jewish Division (111)
- Milstein Division (121)

* Materials from the Lionel Pincus and Princess Firyal Map Division (117) will be served in the Milstein Division (121).

G | Ground Floor

The Bartos Forum is open for public events. Find out what’s on at the Library: nypl.org/events

Learn more: nypl.org/schwarzman